

What would happen if....

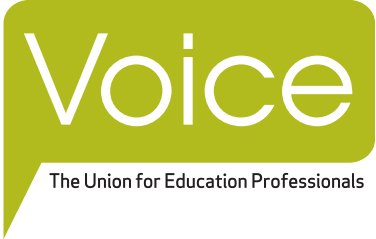

...you were bullied in the workplace?

...there was an accident in your class?

...you were confronted by an angry parent?

...you were threatened by a pupil?

Unfortunately, things outside of your control can happen and without a union's support, you would stand alone.

Don't go it alone!

Extend your membership with Voice for just £1 per month.

Extend your membership and make sure you have the support of a firm but friendly union in your corner for your part-time casual work as well as your training and placements.

For just £1 per month*, Voice student members can secure the same quality support and advice for any issues they face in the employment they've taken to help support them through their training, so it doesn't become an unwanted distraction.

We're here to support our student members by offering you the chance to extend your free coverage to help you with your casual part-time paid employment as well as your training and placements, whether that employment is education-based or in a restaurant, retail or office or as a delivery driver.

What can Voice support me with?

- > contract disputes;
- > wage issues;
- > discrimination in the workplace;
- > unfair working practices;
- > minimum wage concerns;
- > unfair dismissal;
- > working time issues;
- > issues where your employer becomes insolvent;
- > time off work; and
- > sickness and sick pay.

Don't let the paid employment you took to help fund your training become an unnecessary distraction and source of stress.

Extend your membership*. Tick the expression of interest box on your application and we'll send you further details and instructions on how to extend your cover immediately.

Terms and conditions apply.

Extension available to Voice Student members only. Paid employment must be part-time and contracted; we are unable to offer assistance to self-employed students. Employment must be based in the UK. Voice cannot represent members with issues that arose prior to extending their membership. Once membership is extended, payments and coverage will continue until 31 August of the qualifying year as stated on your membership application unless the member contacts Voice in writing to cancel the extended coverage.
